

SOUTHEASTERN UNIVERSITY

Dear prospective Master of Arts in Ministerial Leadership student,

Thank you for your interest in our Master of Arts in Ministerial Leadership program here at Southeastern University! Our graduate program in the College of Christian Ministries and Religion is uniquely designed to help you achieve your academic and ministry goals with a variety of delivery formats tailored to students' busy schedules and needs.

Students from all backgrounds in their undergraduate work come into our program. We've had artists, actors, business people, educators, therapists, and of course many with a religion degree already in ordained ministry positions; but all feel a distinct call to serve the church in a leadership capacity. While our program can be completed in one year by truly dedicated and focused students, the academic rigors of our courses will challenge you to another level in your research, writing, and ministry leadership skills. Our thesis class will give you the chance to highlight those abilities for future employers and/or doctoral programs while contributing fresh insights and data to the help advance the Kingdom of God through practical and informed scholarship.

Take some time and look over our Web site. Here, you can read, download some of our newsletters, and watch video. This will help you to clarify the will of the Lord in your life as you consider becoming a part of our program. We in the Master of Arts in Ministerial Leadership program are anxious to fulfill our call to serve you in your pursuit of a credible graduate degree. Don't hesitate to contact us with any questions you might have about the program. Just call our office at (863) 667-5044 or e-mail us at bmkelly@seuniversity.edu.

Together with you toward the completion of your graduate degree,

Dr. Robert Houlihan
Dean, College of Christian Ministries and Religion
